Fir. Roger Fisher 701 Union Trust Building Weshington 5. D. C.

Coar & Pisher:

You are neare from Mr. Percival F. Brundage's letter to you, January 18, 1956, that your letter to him, January 10, 1956, has been referred to me. In your letter you requested that the Office of Defense Mobilization take a fresh look at the problem involved in selecting a location for the proposed Central Intelligence Agency building.

The interest of this Office in the matter is in the application of the dispersion policy. This policy recognizes that economic, operational, and administrative requirements may provide a legitimate basis for exceptions to it. The head of the agency concerned is responsible for determining whether the nature of the activity will permit the use of a dispersed location.

An exception in this case was granted. When an exception is justified, it is in keeping with the objective of the dispersion policy that as much security as possible be achieved consistent with the needs which justified the exception. In achieving this security, distance, topography, and protective construction are important.

While the Office of Defense Mobilization has made no recommendation as to a suitable location for the proposed building, it is my opinion that the location should be as far removed from the center of the target area as the needs which justified the exception will pensit.

I am ours that Mr. Allen Dulles is notivated by these considerations in searching for a suitable location.

Minceroly.

Victor E. Cooley Acting Director
